

Insurance Position and Recommendations

Finding an insurance company that will insure your household when you own a Pit Bull or Rottweiler can be a challenge. A Rotta Love Plus wants to encourage you to support insurance companies who do not have breed discrimination policies.

Placing your insurance with a company which does not breed-discriminate ensures that you are not at risk of the insurance company denying a claim based on the breed of dog you own and you are not at risk of being canceled due to the breed of dog you own. It also shows that you support their position to not breed discriminate.

Maintaining insurance with a company which breed-discriminates shows that you support that company and its policies. Lying about your dogs breed only puts you as a dog owner at risk.

Below are companies that DO NOT breed discriminate as well as a specific contact which we have a relationship with. These companies and specific contacts will be happy to hear from you and to service your insurance needs as a dog owner of one of these great breeds!
